A SHORT WHEAT CROP.

THE ACREAGE GREATLY REDUCED AND THE GRAIN DAMAGED.

Reports From the Wheat-Growing Regions to The Centres of Trade -- The Outlook From Chicago-News From the Wheat Fields of the Northwest.

S. W. Tallmadge, the statistician of the Mitwaukee chamber of commerce, has completed his first spring report of the decrease in acreage and the damage to the growing wheat crop. The report is based on official information furnished by the agricultural commissioners or departments of the 17 states embraced in the wheat growing belt. Last year these states raised 340,000,000 bushels of the 380,000,000 bushels of winter wheat raised in the United States. This year show a decrease in acreage 3,900,000 acres, which is equivalent to a decrease of 50,000,000 bushels of wheat as compared with last year's crop. There is an average damage of 15 per cent, which will cause a further reduction of 51,000,000 bushels the decreased acreage and the damage reducing this year's erop fully 101,000,000 bushels as compared with last year's crop. Kansas, shows 30 per cent, decreased acreage and 25 per cent damage; California, 29 per cent decreased acreage and 15 per cent. damage; Ohio, 7 per cent. Jess acreage and 25 per cent. damage; New York, 6 per cent. Jess acreage and 25 per cent. damage; New York, 6 per cent less acreage and 5 per cent damage; Pennsylvania, 5 per cent less acreage and 10 per cent damage cent, less acreage and 10 per Illinois, 15 per cent less acreage and 20 per Illinois, 15 per cent less Illinois, is per cent less acreage and 20 per cent damage; Missouri, 10 per cent less acreage and is per cent, damage; Michigan, 4 per cent, less acreage and 8 per cent, damage, The decreased acreage and the damage in Virginia, Maryland, Tennessee, North Carolina, and West Virginia are each 20 per cent. Kentucky shows a decreased acre-age of 15 per cent. and a damage of 18 per A REPORT FROM DAKOTA.

James Baynes, agricultural commissioner of Dakota, gives the following interesting information under date of March 13: "The wheat crop of 1884 is pretty generally marketed. In many counties it is reported that there is scarcely enough for seed and bread it it was all distributed. It will re-quire 2,500,000 bushels to seed and 1,250,000 bushels for bread until the lst of September. Many farmers who expected to hold their grain for much higher figures than have yet prevailed this year sold on the advance in January. After seed and bread are deducted January. After seed and bread are deducted from the amount on hand March 1 there would be left about 2,000,000 bushels, one three sevenths of which will be in farmers' bins until the next harvest is fully assured, as a number of farmers always use the precaution to save the next year's bread until it is ascertained that it will be provided by the ensuring crops and will hold in the hopes of obtaining higher prices. There is a quite general expression of either a decrease in the aereage for wheat or a suspension of the increase until such time as there will be an outlook for better prices. The desire to cut down the acreage is much more in counties where wheat is the only crop grown for the where wheat is the only crop grown for the market. The counties that have had flax, hogs, cattle, or butter to sell as well as wheat have not felt the extreme hardships of the former, and will be quite likely to sow about the usual acreage, through flax will encroach upon the wheat grounds to some extent. The high price of the past season is tempting farmers to increase the acreage. The weather since the 1st of March has been very fine and there is considerable wheat being sown. and much more could be if farmers desired to; but many think it better to wait a while fearing that a hard freeze may yet come. There will not be much wheat marketed until after seeding, when farmers will take ac-count of stock and sell what they have to spare. It is evident that there will not be any increase in acreage this year."

From all sources authentic news comes that the acreage of winter wheat is greatly decreased and the damage is quite heavy. The damage in the Southern wheat-growing states is uniformly heavy. The Outlook From Chicago. Special dispatches covering the most important wheat growing counties of Illinois and Indiana indicate that the damage to the top of the wheat by the alternating frosts and thaws of the winter has been quite general. In Southern Indiana the injury done has been especially severe. Out of 36 counties reporting—17 in Indiana and 19 in Illinois in 11 in Indiana and 4 in Illinois the prospect of even a fair crop on the present outlook is not encouraging. Eight counties in Illinois and 2 in Indiana report that wheat has weath-ered the winter in good condition. In few instances is it shown however, that the frost has exposed the roots, and it is quite possible hat good growing weather within the next few weeks will insterially change the prospects of the crop for the better. Late sown and upland wheat seem to have suffered more than that sown early in the fall in the low-In some sections clover seems to have The peach crop in all sections is practically kuined, but apples and small fruits, especially strawberries, have been more fortunate.

HOW TO DRIVE A TEAM. The Court Delivers a Dissertation on the Law

The law of the road was the subject of an opinion filed by Judge Biddle, of Philadelphia, in refusing a new trial of the suit brought by Henry Brooks against Moulton Thomas to recover damages for injuries to the plaintiff's wagon in a collision with that of the defendant. "There is no rule of law," said the judge, "which requires a traveler to drive over any particular part of a public highway. He can drive over the middle or on either side, no mat-ter in what direction he may be going. What is called the 'law of the road' is that persons meeting on a highway must each keep to the right. This rule is modified in the case of a ootman or horseman, who cannot compel a footman or horseman, who cannot compel a teamster with a heavy load to turn out of the beaten track. If the horseman or a light vehicle can pass with safety on the left of a heavy laden team it is their duty to give way and leave the choice to the more unwieldy vehicle. In the present case the defendant was on the left-hand side of the highway, with room between him and curb for a carriage coming in the opposite direction to pass him if the driver of it kept to the right. The plaintiff, coming from the opposite direction, had a right of way on the railway track, but instead of keeping on that track he straddled one of the rails, having thus but one wheel on the track. It was his duty to follow the 'law of the road,' which regulates the conduct of those not driving on the track. Instead of keeping to the right he kept to the left, and his right wheel came in contact with the defendant's wheel came in contact with the defendant's right wheel. The jury having found the defendant guilty of no negligence gave a verdict in his favor. This verdict we see no reason to disturb."

American Tract Society Meeting. The Washington annual meeting of the American Tract society was held last even-ing, Chief Justice Drake, of the U. S. court ing, Chief Justice Drake, of the U. S. court of claims, presiding. Rev. Dr. Shearer, one of the secretaries of the society, reported a balance in the treasury at the beginning of the years of $557,470, of which $102,870 was from donations and legacies. The whole number of books, tracts and periodicals circulated was 9,250,000 copies. The colporteurs employed were 161, who made 155,225 "Chrisian family" visits and circulated 133,463 volumes. The grants of tracts, 56,000,000 pages, to the value of $37,150, were distributed through pastors, home misseonaries and others, including the colporteurs, agents and members of the society, in connection with personal work. The appropriations for printing abroad, chiefly in India, China and Japan, were $7,500, Addresses were made by ex-Judge Strong, Senator Colquit, of Georgia, and Rev. Drs. Pitzer and Butler, warmly commending the work of the society.

Protection of Merchants.

Several days ago a caucus was held by members of the state House of representatives who are merchants, for the purpose of formulating some stringent law to protect merchants from the encroschments of hawkers and peddlers. It was decided to make an entire revision of existing laws on the subject and enact a new law prohibiting hawking and peddling in the state, except by cripples. A committee was appointed to get up a

The scheme is said to be to form clubs in eight leading cities of the West, organize on a very liberal basis, ignore all rules specially obnoxious to players and the public, and utilize players disqualified under the national agreement rules.

The Reputation of a Standard Article Is seldom injured by surreptitions rivalry. Imi-tators of Hostetter's Stomach Bitters have not to enhance the estimation in which the genuine medicine is held. The public at large has for many years been acquainted with the ear mark that distinguish the real from the spurious, and cannot be persuaded that other articles sold in a somewhat similar guise are equally good. Fever and ague, constipation, dyspepsia and liver complaint are not curable by cheap local bitters, eye openers and tonics, but the fact is too well proven and too generally known to admit of conscientious dispute, that for these and other maladies the great household medicine is a safe and thorough remedy. Not only in the United States, but in Mexico, South America and the West Indies, its merits are widely recognized and its reputation too firmly established to be
